

TIPS FOR BEST RESULTS REGRITTING YOUR POTATO PEELER

BEFORE

AFTER

1: Make sure peeler is DRY & clean of any previous peelings so you will get a better bonding of the resin, hardener & grit to the peeler.

2: When first regritting your peeler if there are any worn or bald patches mix up a very small amount of resin & hardener then regrid the bald or worn patch first. Let it dry completely before fully regritting the whole peeler so the level of grit is even over the surfaces once you have fully finished regritting it.

3: Mix up as small amount of resin & hardener as possible (even half amount as instructed), as the mix goes further than you think. This ensures less waste of resin & hardener as once mixed any leftover will have to go in the the bin, so you will be wasting whatever you have left over.

You can always mix up a little more in seconds on the go if you need too, thus saving your resin & hardener overall on the full regrid so you can reuse any that is leftover in the future to regrid any patches.

4: Peeler will be like new on the inside once regritted & will peel potatoes in a much shorter time afterwards, so keep an eye on it when peeling as peeling potatoes more than what is needed will result in losing potatoes in shrinkage due to being over peeled.

5: Good advice when peeling is try and leave a little skin on them when taking out of peeler so will show not over peeled & you will not notice once potatoes are chipped therefore giving you more profit.

6: By mixing smaller amounts of resin & hardener any unused left over should be ok for approximately one year, perhaps more if kept in a cool dark draw or cupboard, saving you money as any leftover can be used to cover any small or worn patches if need to in the next year or so.

7: The kit will pay for itself many times over before needing to buy another one, as you will be saving on the labour time taking to peel potatoes & the electric. (as peeler switched on less time with shortening of peeling time.)

8: If you need any further help with the regritting just message or call me anytime.

Regards,

Regrit-it.com

